

Received a "B" rating in CDP Climate Change 2024

PIOLAX, INC. (President: Satoshi Yamada) has been disclosing environmental information through the CDP since 2018.

CDP is a London-based international non-profit organization that evaluates companies and cities' environmental activities, including the comprehensiveness of disclosure, awareness and management of environmental risks, and goal setting and performance, using an eight-level score system (A, A-, B, B-, C, C-, D, D-).

We responded to the 2024 climate change and water security questionnaire and received a management level rating of "B" (previous year: B) in the climate change area and "B-" (previous year: C) in the water security area.

We will continue to actively promote activities for the development of a sustainable society and strengthen transparency and information disclosure regarding the environment.
